

Chalet Program

-Good to have an overall info book

-My personal opinion is that this program is old and dated. It appeals to people who always think they're going to get the best deal via a military offering, which is not always the case. With the advent of the internet one is now quickly and easily able to find equivalent properties, at the same or even better rates, on their own. Also, most of these properties require air transport which they don't usually book until they know whether or not they've "won" the chalet lottery. At which point they find out that the price of travel makes the chalet not look like a very good deal after all. The chalet program is really only worth it if you determine that you'd like to visit a place first, book the airfare and then wait to see if you win a property. If you don't then, no big deal, you were going there anyway so can look into other options through VRBO or whatever.

-With all the online tools and resources the chalet program is somewhat obsolete.

Any deals on accommodation are offset by the costs of airfare once you are confirmed as having won a chalet.

Spousal Deployment Support

-Good to have an overall info book

-I'm not aware of this program

Academic Program

-Good to have an overall info book

-The YEP virtual training program is very good.

-Does this refer to the distance learning courses through DEM?

-Not sure what this is...perhaps the bursary for first year university?

-what is that?

Can you suggest any other PSP morale and welfare program(s) that could be funded through the European Fund? Keep in mind it must be open to all European Fund members.

-In-depth language training. Post secondary Grants/ bursaries for older teens of Outcan members who do not have the same employment opportunities as their peers in Canada.

-Summer internship/employment opportunities for dependent children.

-Fitness Grants

-Many of the PSP programs on offer are repeats of what happens every year. Perhaps, as a Canadian community, we should get together for a facilitated PSP brainstorming session instead of simply answering a limited survey.

-special teen initiatives (Highschool senior level, commonwealth military gravesite visits, for example)

-Driving knowledgeably and safely in a new country.

-interesting subject
 -School schedules. Personal Interest.

-The chalets; the Christmas ski trip
 -The newsletter seems full of unnecessary advertising for mediocre local restaurants that have nothing to do with Brussels events. Just an observation. No value added
 -Chalet program and winter ski trip
 -Annual week long Christmas ski trip
